
Electronic Workshop

Date: 27th November 2009

Location: OUHK Main Campus- B0312

Type: Technical Workshops

We organized an interesting electronic workshop for engineering sciences students. An experience engineer guided our students to make an electronic kit called “Drawdio”, which is a pen that generates sound while writing. Through this event, students not only promote their interest on electronic but also stimulates their creativity while playing with their products.

