
Career Development Training Series – III: Case Studies

Date: 13th April 2018

Location: E0813, The Open University of Hong Kong

Type: Workshop

To prepare students for a successful career, a series of events have been organized. This workshop was the third of the series in 2018. In this workshop, professionals who were working in different sectors (government, public services, I.T., marketing, technology start-ups) led groups discussions, in which students could get to know the respective job application strategies, daily working environment, career prospects, and other practical issues.
